One: Following Jesus’ Call for Unity

What did Jesus mean when He prayed that His disciples would be one just as He is one with His Father (John 17)? Many in Christendom have deep concerns about disunity in the church and are questioning the spirit of division and ongoing schism.

Should interdenominational unity be sought? Is ecumenism a code word for theological compromise, or is it integral to fulfilling the mission God has given the church in the world?

One: Following Jesus’ Call for Unity explores the controversial subject of Christian division and unity from both an historical and Biblical basis through interviews with experts and thought leaders in a wide variety of Christian traditions and through the stories of Christians around the world who promote greater unity through love in action. Two parts, 98 minutes total (E3).

Catholic and Protestant experts join the discussion. 54 minutes (E3).

Volendam: A Refugee Story

Packed onto train cars, idling just inside the Soviet Occupied Zone in postwar Germany, the fate of over a thousand Mennonite refugees was dependent upon a single railway light turning green. This Anabaptist sect, who were never supposed to get this far, had endured famine, religious persecution and war. Now they were being hunted, and for the train to be turned back now would mean imprisonment or even death.

Waiting for a miracle, the Mennonite refugees had nothing left to do but pray. Pray they would escape long enough to board the ship waiting to take them far away, to the only country that would take them. The destination was the jungle of Paraguay. The ship was the Volendam.

This documentary tells this fascinating, little known story through firsthand accounts and dramatic reenactments. It is a story of faith and perseverance set against the troubled geopolitical landscape of the first half of the 20th century. 84 minutes (E3).

The Divine Plan
How does a plot that involves the assassination attempts of President Ronald Reagan and Pope John Paul II, KGB scheming, and CIA intrigue become the final act to topple the Soviet Empire? The Divine Plan dives deep into the pivotal bond between Pope John Paul II and President Ronald Reagan. Just six weeks apart in the spring of 1981, the pope and the president took bullets from would-be assassins. Surviving similarly striking experiences, they confided to each other a shared conviction: that God had spared their lives for the purpose of defeating communism. The Divine Plan draws on the film’s exclusive interviews with renowned historians, scholars, journalists, and church officials including Douglas Brinkley, H.W. Brands, Anne Applebaum, John O’Sullivan, Craig Shirley, George Weigel, Richard V. Allen, Cardinal Timothy Dolan, and Bishop Robert Barron. 80 minutes plus extras (E5).

UFO conventions may not seem like a good place for a Christian theology professor, but that’s where you can sometimes find Dr. Michael Heiser, author of the book, The Unseen Realm: Recovering the Supernatural Worldview of the Bible. Dr. Heiser’s interest in UFO stories has led him to ask, Are all these stories of unidentified objects in the sky and alien abductions merely the product of sci-fi fantasy run amuck, or could there be something deeper hidden under the surface? In this provocative documentary, Dr. Heiser explores the unexpected intersection between UFOs, alien abductions, the world of angels and demons, and the ancient texts that speak of them. 75 minutes (E5).

The Cross and the Switchblade
50th Anniversary Release
Long before faith-based films became a regular feature of mainstream movie theaters, there was The Cross and the Switchblade. The film was made squarely within the Hollywood system, yet was set apart by the unashamedly Christian vision of its producers. It went on to become a worldwide ministry phenomenon, and it stands among the early sparks that ignited today’s growing Christian film movement.

Based on the 1963 autobiography of the same name by David Wilkerson, the film depicts the unlikely efforts of a “skinny country preacher” to bring change to the desperate lives of gang members living and dying on the mean streets of New York City. Among those whose lives were transformed was the notorious gang leader Nicky Cruz, who went on to lead a decades-long outreach to gang members and other distressed young people.

Wilkerson’s mission to tell lost and hurting young people that there was a better way through Jesus Christ blossomed into the Times Square Church and the international ministries of Teen Challenge and World Challenge, whose missions are to bring lasting, holistic change to individuals and communities. The story lives on in the book and film, but more importantly in the legacy of lives transformed by the message that no one is ever so far gone that they cannot find the way home. 105 minutes (EST, S, A, Pt, Ru, C, Hi, Putonghua).

Building for God

Dan Glushefski, a successful property investor in upstate New York, received a vision from God to build an orphanage for needy children in South America. Then he found a fellow missionary with the same vision. See how God took two total strangers living 3,750 miles apart, each following God’s call to fulfill the same vision: building the Children’s Lighthouse Orphanage, but more importantly, rebuilding children’s lives in one of the poorest countries in the Western Hemisphere. (47 minutes, E²). Bonus program: A Redeemed Life: You Can Make a Difference gives more details about Dan’s life and ministry. (34 minutes, E²).

A Man Called Love

Love Kaphesi is a hero of the Christian faith—but it wasn’t always that way. God answered the prayers of Love’s desperate wife when He reached down from Heaven and rescued his soul. Life would never be the same for Love. His story is one of forgiveness, redemption, and transformation. His passion for preaching the Gospel brought about an extraordinary work of God in the remote villages of Malawi, Mozambique, and Zimbabwe. Love’s remarkable story and the steadfast perseverance of his faithful wife will inspire your heart and stay with you forever. 43 minutes (E²).

One of the things I love most about working at Christian History Institute and Vision Video is how much I get to learn. And one of my favorite ways to learn is through good storytelling. Our partner, Mennonite filmmaker, Andrew Wall’s latest documentary, Volendam: A Refugee Story, gave me the opportunity to learn part of my history through incredible storytelling. The documentary traces the compelling true story of Russian Mennonites in the Soviet Union from the early 1900s through the voyage on the ship, Volendam, which rescued many fleeing for their lives in 1947, just after World War II. The storytelling interweaves interviews with the people who lived this history, excellent reenactments, and incredible footage from the 1940s. I am amazed by how testimony of God’s work in the past continues to speak to me in the present, both to encourage my faith and to give me compassion for refugees today who are seeking safety, just as my spiritual ancestors did decades ago.

~ Michelle Curtis (Editorial Assistant)

Volendam: A Refugee Story

Packed onto train cars, idling just inside the Soviet Occupied Zone in post war Germany, the fate of over a thousand Mennonite refugees was dependent upon a single railway light turning green. This Anabaptist sect, who were never supposed to get this far, had endured famine, religious persecution and war. Now they were being hunted, and for the train to be turned back now would mean imprisonment or even death.

Waiting for a miracle, the Mennonite refugees had nothing left to do but pray. Pray they would escape long enough to board the ship waiting to take them far away, to the only country that would take them. The destination was the jungle of Paraguay. The ship was the Volendam.

This documentary tells this fascinating, little known story through firsthand accounts and dramatic reenactments. It is a story of faith and perseverance set against the troubled geopolitical landscape of the first half of the 20th century. 84 minutes (EST).

As the author of the fantasy series The Elmnas Chronicles, I enjoyed being able to root myself in the grand tradition of George MacDonald, J.R.R. Tolkien, and C.S. Lewis. The Fantasy Makers is an engaging introduction into their groundbreaking work in the genre of fantasy literature. Weaving expert commentary with a dramatic retelling of the authors’ lives, this documentary offers a unique and beautiful view into the events, relationships, and faith that inspired world-acclaimed works such as The Lord of the Rings and The Chronicles of Narnia. Lovers of fantastical fiction and the faith that inspired it will not want to miss this wonderful and well-crafted film!

~ Kaylena Radcliff (Editorial Coordinator for Christian History)

The Fantasy Makers

J.R.R. Tolkien, C.S. Lewis, and George MacDonald were the pioneers of the fantasy genre. Their works have become best-selling books and blockbuster movies. All three were deeply committed Christians, and their spiritual convictions permeate their writing. The Fantasy Makers examines the spiritual influences of these fantasy pioneers and the lasting impact their works have on our present-day culture. Featuring Rowan Williams, Kristin Jeffrey Johnson, Malcolm Guite, Allister McGrath, and Michael Ward. 88 minutes (EST).

The title and cover image of this program drew my attention immediately. Like so many Americans, my husband I were on an unplanned Covid-19 “staycation,” without normal life-giving activities to boost our sagging spirits. Many Beautiful Things delivered just what we needed.

Lilias Trotter was a promising 19th-century artist when she felt called to Christian service and relinquished potential artistic fame. The film expertly weaves Trotter’s own lovely watercolors and poignant prose with equally moving music. Michelle Dockery (Downton Abbey fame) expertly voices Lilias, while John Rys-Davies (Lord of the Rings) voices her artistic mentor.

Lilias had a way of finding beauty in everything, from the smallest seedpod to the people of Algeria, where she would serve for decades. Through this film, Lilias became a friend reminding us to seek beauty and cling to faith during trials. As she wrote, “It is water poured down into a low narrow channel that can rise into a fountain. Faith that comes from the depths has a spring in it!”

~ Dawn Moore (Director of Editorial Staff for Christian History)

Many Beautiful Things

Many Beautiful Things tells the story of Lilias Trotter, a 19th century British painter who sacrificed artistic fame in order to serve God as a missionary in Algeria. Trotter’s extraordinary gift was noticed by famous art critic, John Ruskin, who believed Trotter could become one of England’s greatest artists. But to Ruskin’s consternation, Trotter’s unfailing love for the needy and those without Christ led her to focus on ministry, and in time Trotter could not escape God’s undeniable calling to serve on the mission field. Featuring the voices of Michelle Dockery (Downton Abbey) and John Rys-Davies (Lord of the Rings, Indiana Jones). 70 minutes (EST, J, RST, KST, CST).

THE HEART OF VISION VIDEO

When your father works for a Christian film ministry, you become a “test group” by default. Anytime I discover a program that my kids might enjoy, my first step is to get it in front of them and gather feedback. And as soon as I heard about King of Glory, I did just that. I was very eager for their input and hoped my kids would be as excited about it as I was. I have often prayed that my kids would not only know their Bible facts, stories, and details, but that they would also get an understanding of how all those stories, facts, and details fit into the grand story of Scripture—God’s perfect creation became tainted by sin so God sent His only, unique Son to provide redemption for all mankind, and He will restore His Kingdom on Earth. That is the message of King of Glory, and my kids love it. They love the descriptive images, exciting narration, and feel they understand their Bible better. I often catch them watching, learning, and being enthralled with this grand story of Scripture while also being entertained, challenged, and fascinated by King of Glory. I highly recommend this product to anyone, not just children, who may have lost sight of the “King of Glory” in the midst of the details, noise, and busyness of our days.
